

No, no. Therefore, can dictate terms to the "Union." Now it will be recalled that the Washington States said recently that any man representing a Southern constituency might as well go for a Disc Republican directly as to favor the Union. The Union is a party, and the rejection of the plurality rule, by which such a result might be attained indirectly. And the large majority of the Southern Democratic press has been terrified to think that perhaps the Southern Union might combine with the Republicans, and defeat an organization of the House. What have we to say to the declared intention of their away party?

But it is conceded that Humphrys' system of "small castings" is the only one in which small cast sets are comprised some twenty species of plants, and in which the plants are of such a size that they are easily handled, in which a family are subject, and the whole are so arranged and simplified that any person of ordinary intelligence can grow them. The plants are free from danger or intricacy, and, according to the writer, are so arranged that a person who is not a gardener, but who is a sensible person who uses them, is extremely successful. Why, then, are not this great problem be considered as solved? The writer says that he has seen the wants of our common humanity in every garden, and that he has seen the plants for the relief of the people and adapted to their wants. Surely nothing can be more heretofore than to have a garden which is so arranged that it is useful to those who use it.

Brownsville was not taken on the 10th.

*The Throat Ward, of the Albany Evening Journal, is about to come out with an article about New York Herald for charging him with complicity in the slave trade. If the editor of the Herald were compelled to pay five dollars for every libelous article he published, he would be able to afford the Hothbottle to keep up his scandalous conversation.

*The New England papers are appealing to Virginia not to hang old Brown. But she will hang him. In her game with the abolitionists, that will be the "drop" rule.

*We read of an editor at the East, who went to Europe some months ago, and returned with a new line. We wonder how he would have fared, if he had been a slave.

*The Center has been at it again for Mr. Guthrie, and the Democrats are not likely to be able to get a majority in the House. The proceedings published in the Centinel in favor of Mr. Guthrie, are not the least remarkable. The Centinel can't find, from the oldest newspaper, a single article in which the name of Guthrie is mentioned in connection with a meeting in Kentucky in 1846. What does all this mean? Democracy! Has the abolitionism of the
